The UNESCO Convention for the Safeguarding of the Intangible Cultural Heritage celebrated its 10th anniversary in 2013. 145 member states have ratified the convention

The concept of "intangible heritage" has emerged as a key element of cultural heritage, with the recognition of its value and the need to save it.

From its adoption in October 2003 until the submission of the first periodic reports in 2011 and 2012, the Convention for the Safeguarding of the Intangible Cultural Heritage has achieved many milestones at both the international and national levels.

The tenth anniversary offered a great opportunity to make an initial assessment and to explore the key challenges, constraints and possibilities related to its implementation.

Safeguarding Living Traditions—What is the Future?

The conference followed the publication of the « List of living traditions in Switzerland » by the national government in autumn 2012 and took place on April 4th 2014 at the University of Fribourg.

Left : Mr. Jean Pierre SIGGEN, Director for Cultural Affairs of the Canton Fribourg speaking on "The valorization of living traditions in the Canton Fribourg: What role for the government?"

Right : Ms. Ellen HERTZ, Director of the Ethnologic Dept. of the University of Neuchâtel, since 4 years scientific partner of CIOFF Switzerland for the UNESCO Convention on ICH.

This event is the result of a cooperation between the Fribourg Folk Arts Association (FFCC) and the Ethnologic Institute of the University of Neuchâtel under the Direction of CIOFF® Switzerland, national NGO accredited to provide advisory service to the Committee of the UNESCO Convention for the Safeguarding of Intangible Cultural Heritage.

In fact, according to UNESCO "NGOs have an important role to play in the implementation of the Convention for the Safeguarding of the Intangible Cultural Heritage. At the national level, they can operate between communities and governments and should be involved in identifying and defining intangible cultural heritage and in other appropriate safeguarding measures."

The role of NGOs in implementation of the Convention for the Safeguarding of ICH, Tallin (Estonia) 2-4.9.2010.

The meeting aimed to bring together protagonists concerned by the implementation of the UNESCO Convention 2003 to outline elements of answers to basic questions like :

-What means the notion of «viability» in the spirit of the UNESCO Convention ?

-What participation is given to the communities in the implementation of the Convention ?

-How to assess the need of a living tradition for measures of safeguarding ?

Six experts presented their reflections and proposed, herewith, some future for the living traditions that need protection. The detailed program is available on the website www.JaimeLesTraditions.ch

The "Reifschwinger", a living tradition in danger. Only 4 persons still know the practice.

In addition, the organisers presented live six specific traditions of the Fribourg Region that have an urgent need of measures of safeguarding.

The reports will be published on the specific website www.cioff.ch/SPCI/index.html

Finally, the three partners of the conference will publish on May 10th 2014 a special brochure on « 100 FRIBOURG TRADITIONS », a Directory for the Safeguarding of Intangible Cultural Heritage ».

Conference was organized under the patronage of the Swiss Commission for UNESCO.

The "Kranzlitracht", one of the oldest traditional costume in Switzerland is also in danger and needs measures of safeguarding.

The Courtyard of Thought

During the International Folklore Festival Baltica CIOFF® Estonia organized a discussion about the definitions of traditional culture and traditions in contemporary world. This discussion brought together lot of people from the field of folklore and also caught the attention of the Minister of Culture of Estonia (who was present at the event). This courtyard initiated new collaborations and new courtyards will be planned in the near future for further discussions

Photo competition „Heritage, made at home“

CIOFF® Youth Estonia made a project for 4-26 years old children and youth for capturing the heritage in their everyday lives (what they notice around themselves, what has been at their homes for ages, what stories behind the objects they know, what skills they have inherited from their ancestors, etc.). A lot of photos were sent to the competition and together with the museums the winners were selected. 25 pieces are travelling now around Estonia as an itinerant exhibition. The project got funding from the budget of the theme year fund.

Award for Cultural Heritage

The Foundation of Cultural Heritage was founded by CIOFF® Estonia in 2000. The mission of the foundation is to support the continuity of cultural heritage and to direct public attention towards the need of protecting traditional culture. The idea of creating such kind of foundation comes from the programme of UNESCO - "Living National Treasures", where public recognition is considered to be the most effective way in protecting cultural heritage. This year the award was given to two laureates and the prize was funded by the theme year.

Candidates for the award were sent by different organizations and groups all over Estonia, from almost all the counties.

Estonian National Folklore Council received nominations for 22 candidates.

The award Ceremony was held during the Festival Baltica and featured in the local press.

The event was held with the support of the Estonian National Culture Foundation and funded by Theme of the Year Fund.

Lectures on Vulnerability of Culture of AVA GUARANI

Following the publication of the book "Ajeápy" and the six DVDs on the situation of indigenous Ava Guarani of Paraguay, published with the support of UNESCO, the delegate of CIOFF® Paraguay (author of this work) was invited to give lectures in classrooms of four private universities and five colleges in the metropolitan area of Asuncion, in the capital. The Lectures involved more than 2,000 students and hundreds of teachers.

The activity was dedicated to the tenth anniversary of the Convention for the Safeguarding of the Intangible Cultural Heritage.

The focal point was the vulnerability of the culture of the native peoples of Paraguay, especially the Guarani ethnic group, who have been stripped of their habitat, their jungle, where they developed their culture and where they spent all their life (livelihood, natural medicines, etc.). Because of that they are called the "land without evil".

"Custodians of Memory" Workshop for Young People in Itakyry

Within the framework of the programme to organise youth people in teams of "Custodians of Memory" CIOFF® Paraguay held a workshop in the village of Itakyry, Alto Parana. For two days (six hours per day) CIOFF® Paraguay have given youth members basic training to gather information, testimonies of cultural carriers, documents and recordings, photos and videos about intangible cultural heritage, on the tenth anniversary of the respective Convention. The "Custodians of Memory" are the young people, who are researching intangible cultural heritage and try to collect as much information to preserve the memory of the people of Paraguay through documentation. It is an initiative of CIOFF® Paraguay to serve the communities.

Stories of the World

A professional cross-arts company ZENDEH was commissioned by Billingham Festival to deliver a residency in Billingham South Community Primary School in Billingham in June 2013 exploring and creating stories of the World with children age 7-11.

The residency was extremely successful: 92 children expressed interest to take part in the residency, and 22 children who were selected for the residency, learned how to create stories, created their own stories with the help of ZENDEH, produced hand-made books with their stories and presented their stories on stage at the School Assembly.

All the residency and workshop participants thoroughly enjoyed the experiences and would love to do it again.

The residency at the school was documented in photos and videos, which were presented at the two Festival Gala nights to the audiences. All the residency participants were invited to the Gala nights, festival workshops and festival children's club.

Children of Billingham also took part in painting large wooden boards to reflect the cultures of the countries, which took part in the festival.
